Setting up Google Scholar for Off-Campus Access to SLC Resources

Step 1: Click on Google Scholar in A-Z Databases or go to scholar.google.com

Step 3: In the window that pop-ups up to the left, click on “Settings.”
Step 4: On the next screen, click on “Library Links” on the far left.

Step 5: In the search box on the next screen, type in “Sarah Lawrence” and hit the search symbol.
Step 6: “Sarah Lawrence College” will now appear underneath “Open WorldCat – Library Search.” Check the box and hit “Save.”

Step 7: Return to the Google Scholar homepage and conduct a search.
Step 8: In the search results, look to the right of resources you are interested in. You’ll now see library links for articles that Sarah Lawrence provides access to (see examples of these links below).

Note: Clicking on the title of the resource will not bring you to full text provided by Sarah Lawrence. Make sure to click the “Sarah Lawrence College” link to the right of the resource.

You may also notice that some resources have links to the right provided by another institution. This often means that the material is provided open access through another institution and these links may also lead you to full text.

For resources found in Google Scholar that do not have links to SLC or other institutions: copy the title, search it in the library catalog, and request access through interlibrary loan.

If you need assistance, please ask a librarian!
